

I texted, you texted back. Here we go:

- Pray that Sarah Barber will do well in her science GCSE test on Friday
- Pray that Lizzy's cough will go completely, and thank you that she didn't have any problems when getting the train on her own!
- Pray that Nat would keep in good health and not be getting ill as much as she has been over the last month
- Louise G has asked for a request about her house mate Vicky who she gave a bible to; pray that she will continue to ask lots of questions. "There is also this non-Christian guy, Cahyo, who keeps coming to prayer breakfast and is really interested in what we believe and finding us a big support in his life at the moment. So a thank you for him coming and prayer that he will continue to".
- Pray that Joey will be able to get more sleep, and feel much more refreshed during the day
- Thank you that Faith had a nice birthday
- Pray that the CU that Grace and Joanna help lead will go really well this month, and that they'd continue to be encouraged by the numbers going and the response they're getting
- Pray that Jake would find work more enjoyable, and that he wouldn't be discouraged on the days that aren't as good as others may have been
- Pray that Alex would also get more sleep in the coming week, and that he'd be able to keep on top of all the work he's getting from school
